♥ Dating Action Plan ♥

For the purposes of your Dating Action Plan, there are only two types of men:

1) Qualified prospects are men you know are single and looking. You can find them with online dating, at speed dating events (if there are any near you), MeetUp.com singles' groups, other singles' groups or events, blind dates, Tinder, parents without partners groups, and singles' dances.

2) Unqualified Prospects – Men in the general male population. Use the 50 Ways to Meet Men list for examples of ways to meet men in general.

What type of activities will you choose to meet new people? Use a balance of qualified and unqualified activities to meet singles and new people in general. Stretch yourself to do something several times per month since the more people you meet, the better your chances of finding a match. Plan a new strategy every month, or use the same one if it's working! Look up events on local calendars and add them in too.
